

MEET OUR 2019 SPONSORED FAMILY: HESTON & THE DUNNAM FAMILY

Heston Dunnam and his family endured years of hospital stays, dozens of tests and few answers from medical professionals until a specialist in Boston diagnosed him with Shwachman Diamond Syndrome (SDS) at 3 years old.

Like Addie, the SDS diagnosis was only the beginning of Heston's story. Now 9 years old, Heston requires a GJ feeding tube to maintain his weight and help with other gastrointestinal problems. He undergoes a bone marrow biopsy every 6 months, chemo treatments weekly and battles daily with other complications such as blindness in one eye and severe dental issues due to marrow failure.

Heston lives in Florida with his mom, Stephanie, his dad, Tracy, and his brother, Jay. His mother and brother also battle severe medical issues and have undergone chemo treatments, surgeries and countless hospital stays.

Despite his battles, Heston is nothing short of a HERO. He wakes up in the morning singing, and even on his roughest days, still smiles and pushes through. He is brave, smart, kind and loving, and the Awesome Addie's Foundation thinks he is pretty AWESOME too!

ABOUT ADDIE

Addie is a 4-year-old girl with a genetically confirmed diagnosis of Shwachman Diamond Syndrome (SDS).

SDS is a rare autosomal recessive disorder characterized by exocrine pancreatic insufficiency, bone marrow dysfunction, leukemia pre-disposition and skeletal abnormalities. Addie currently has a trach and is partially ventilator dependent after surgery complications from her initial VEPT (vertical expandable prosthetic titanium ribs) surgery in June 2016. Addie undergoes surgery on her ribs every 5 months in Philly at CHOP. To date, she has had a total of 26 various surgeries.

She is non-verbal and significantly developmentally behind for her age due to her extensive hospital stays and medical complications. She has recently also been diagnosed with Autism and is receiving 15 hours a week of therapy to include OT, PT, Speech and ABA.
